Some guidelines for comments:

ADEQUATENESS: Voice and manner do not detract from message

Appropriate loudness of voice

Eye contact (not just at end of sentence; hold head up and lower eyes to see script, not the other way; use hand to mark place in script)

Clearness of voice (tension in throat, muffled, head held tucked into neck)

Clearness of vowels and consonants (openness of mouth changes for the various vowels)

Rate (not too fast, not too slow)

EXPRESSIVENESS: revealing through your voice the ideas/feelings found in the passage

Pausing and phrasing

Stress and emphasis through loudness, rate, pitch

Highlighting key words

Comparisons and contrasts

Subordination of less important phrases and words
